

Carolyn Johnson Service to Humanity Award

"Life is God's gift to you; what you do with your life is your gift to God."

Carolyn Johnson was a teacher, coach, athletic director, mentor, role model, friend and inspiration to thousands of people during her lifetime. She served Eastern Hancock from 1968 to 2003. Carolyn passed away in early 2010. Carolyn dedicated her life to serving others and in so doing created a legacy of generations of Eastern Hancock graduates who have made the world a better place through their own service to others. This award will recognize one Eastern Hancock athletic program alumni each year who has demonstrated Carolyn's ideal of service to others.

Qualifications:

Graduate of Eastern Hancock High School.

Varsity athlete during the senior year.

Nominations will be accepted in the Eastern Hancock High School Office through February 15. Award winner will be selected by a committee comprised of staff, parents, and Eastern Hancock athletic program graduates.

Winner announced on February 24

I wish to nominate _____ for the
Carolyn Johnson Service to Humanity Award.

Name of nominator (optional) _____

Reason why this individual is deserving of this award: